PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Mr. Allard has forty years experience in planning and design work, with emphasis on educational and institutional facilities. He started his broad view of architectural practice while still an architecture student at Ohio University, as a Research Assistant with the Development Planning Institute. In addition to private architectural practice, he has worked for the Department of Planning and Urban Renewal, Akron, Ohio, Florida International University, Miami, Florida, and at Vanderbilt University where he served as University Architect for eighteen years. His project work has included planning and development of new campuses, development of large education/research complexes, and small detailed renovation projects, including restoration of over thirty historic buildings. Many projects have been recognized with local and national awards and publications.

In 1995 Mr. Allard opened his own firm with an interest in unique projects that draw upon his particular experience and skills.
